Where's breakfast, Mom?

Parenting is a demanding job.

It's worth it, when you see them become independent

Thanks, Marti! It's been fun to watch them grow vicariously. It must be a great treat at your house.

Sunday June 25 Old-Fashioned Hymn Sing

Hi Everyone! For our Spring Sunday highlighting the music that goes on here at UCF, Linda and I decided to hold a hymn sing! The week after the picnic, June 25th, in place of a sermon, we will sing hymns chosen by the congregation. How this will work: From now until June 4, just let me know which hymn you would like to sing. They don't necessarily need to be in the hymnal - although if you have a specific tune in mind, please let me know. I'll try to accommodate as many requests as possible. Talk to me in church or contact me. Jon B.

HOUSEKEEPING

Flowers from Your Gardens for the Communion Table

I have long thought one of the most charming UCF traditions is people bringing flowers from their gardens to grace the communion table. Professionally designed bouquets from florists are lovely, but these seasons allow the opportunity for less formal beautiful offerings, as well as building community with new awareness of our gardeners and gifts. As the earth bursts into bloom, consider signing up for a Sunday to provide flowers and bring the gifts of your garden. The sign-up sheet is on the bulletin board adjacent to the office.

THIS WEEK'S THANKS

*Bob C. for healing Linda's computer.
